Additional Considerations:

-If assistance is needed with coordinating purchases, deliveries, or installations, this will add additional hours to the project.

-A more complex redesign with custom furniture or extensive project management could increase the total cost.

Keep in mind, the actual time could vary based on the complexity of the room, how many revisions are needed, and whether you prefer a more hands-on approach with sourcing, shopping, or project management. If you're adding a layout redesign or working with contractors for installation (e.g., lighting or furniture assembly), that could increase the time and cost as well.
